“ I had added a tribute to Jaci last month but it isn't showing. Jaci (Plum) was like one of our sisters. She had little means but was so generous. She taught me how to put makeup on when I was 16. I remember her taking me to the Jubilee Boat Club. She has been part of our family. We all loved her. Unfortunately we didn't see as much of each other since I moved to Florida. My sister Sandi and her had remained close throughout the years. Rest in peace young lady. Rosie xoxo

“ Plum, if you are somewhere out there seeing this, I made a typo...we have been friends for 53 years NOT 55. In the grand theme of things, this is irrelevant but you were a stickler for details and your memory was impeccable. You laughed easily and you even had a wicked chuckle at times. We didn't see each other often since I moved out of the province but when we did rehashed old times. Life gets in the way sometimes. You were generous to a fault and you felt deeply. We were as different as the sun and the moon and we certainly butt heads at times. That being said, we always had each other's backs. Sandi

“ Plum, in closing our phone conversations, we always told each other "I love you". That holds true forever. Sandi

“ I still have no words other than unexpected and still shocked with the loss of Jaci! Over 20 years of memories with her and her kitties... from being hired by Jaci as a Nanny to becoming long time friends. I am now caregiver and adopted Mom for Jaci's babies with lots of love and caring. Still so hard to believe we lost Jaci only months after her loosing her Mom and months earlier her brother. Hope she has rejoined both of them as well as her brother who passed years earlier. We are missing you Jaci, I pray you are at peace. I always said to Jaci, just because it's pretty, doesn't mean you have to buy it! She used to say, that should be on her headstone and we laughed. It's not on your headstone but it is here Jaci. xo Missing you.
